

Homework 4

For homework 4 I used bootstrap for the CSS because when I used a template I could not get the buttons to work properly. I utilized bootstrap to get the codes for the text enter and drop down menu on the conversion table. I used Brackets to edit the .html file. To start out the conversion table I used the example temperature conversion posted on the website. Using the example posted online helped me get it done quickly and efficiently. To test out my webpage I used Google Chrome because it is the only web browser I use. I did not use W3 Schools this time because I got better at remembering the tags and how to use them.
